

Angry, Happy, Sad

You are like a traffic light,

Forever changing,

Angry, happy, sad

Your colours ranging,

Your true feelings,

Showing right

through

HOBIE (a black cat)

You are like a chocolate bar

Always sweet

Letting me play with you

Might be off I don't care

Looks bad on the outside

Nice and beautiful inside

Some people don't like you

I will always love you

I don't care what

People think of you

I will always

Remember you.

Bella C

My Brother Sam

You are like the sun over a rainstorm

Always there when I'm down

You are like a moth to flame

We are always together

You are like a cute kitten

Always have been

You are like a mother without her child

Always missing me

You are like a bear killing its pray

Always hugging me tight

You are like a pen to a paper

Always meant to be

You are like a butterfly

As handsome as can be

You are like a loving panda

Always loving me

By Charlotte M

Lizzy!

You are like a sister
Always there for me
You're the star
Lighting up my day
You are the person
Who is with me always prowling through the creeping through the trees.

Your eyes are like stars in the night sky

You are like a boa constrictor strangling its food

as you catch your pray.

You're like a jet ski zooming through the water as you swim in the lake.

You are like a speeding race car when you run to your finish line.

You're like a secret agent

when you sneak up to your pray then...

There is only 1 minute until.....

There is only one minute until the bell rings. Nooo! My heart sinks as I walk off to class. I try to walk the other way but I know it's the wrong thing to do. The bell is ringing and we have to do fractions and decimals!

Why do we always do maths with Mrs Stupson?!

After we finished fractions and decimals we went too Mr Fancy to learn about the history of clothes which was really really boring.

As the bell rings I sigh with relief no more school for six weeks! I run home like a rocket speeding through space up to the moon. As I panted through my apartment I saw my mum cooking lunch and I realise it was the lunch bell!

The Stanley Parable

This is the story of a man named Stanley. Stanley worked for a company in a large office building where he was employee number four two seven. Everyday orders came in through a large nineties monitor that sat on his desk. These “orders” were buttons that Stanley had to push, it told him what buttons to push, when to push them, and in what order. This is what Stanley did for every second, of every hour, for the rest, of his life and Stanley, was happy.

The cat and the fish

I can see the fish swimming around the aquarium. The plants and the sand in the aquarium make it look like the bottom of the ocean. It reminds me of the time I went to the beach with my family. Seeing that made me feel as happy as a hippo on the moon.

The noise from the filter kind of sounds like the splashes of the waves in the sea. It's a very pleasant sound and I felt like jumping up and down when I heard it. It reminds me of reminds me of when I drank a whole bowl of water in one minute. Not that I know what a minute is but still, I drank it very quickly! It also sounds like a calm, relaxing jungle.

I can smell the salty water in the tank. It smells disgusting! I felt like crying, I felt like fainting, I felt like calling my mum! It reminds me of when I was dumped in the garbage because I ripped Lacy's favourite leather jacket. I was stuck there for a night. The next day, Lacy came to get me. When I got home, she used a whole bottle of soap to clean me! As soon as I put my paw out to get the fish, I fall in and I quickly get out before I drown. "curse those stinken fish!"

I can taste the salt on my pallet from the salty water. I'd never thought I'd say this but where does Lacy keep the soap? It reminds me of my fishy vitamins. I felt like throwing up!

This was harder than I thought! I try again to grab the fish with my paws. Instead, I fall face first into the mouldy, green at the bottom of the fish tank. EEW! I try to get out but the fish bites my tail and I go flying into the air. OUCH! I wish that he was dead.

I felt like crying, I felt like screaming, I felt like banging my head to the wall until my skull breaks! I wanted to give up but I was so hungry. I wanted to try again but then, the door opened! I rushed to the couch! my owner stood still and was wondering how I got so wet and dirty.
